Approved by the Board of Directors
on December 21, 2021

NBI Investments Limited («NBI», the «Company») is a Cypriot Investment Firm established in accordance with the laws of the Republic of Cyprus and authorized and regulated in Cyprus by the Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission (hereinafter referred to as «CySec») and subject to CySEC rules, with CIF license number 162/12.

As from November 2021 the Company must comply with the provisions of Law 165(I)/2021 on the Capital Adequacy of Investment Firms, regarding the remuneration policies and variable elements of remuneration.

This Remuneration Policy (the «Policy») of NBI is a document which states the foundations and principles for establishing remunerations within the Company, how the Policy should be applied and followed.

The Company believes that remuneration should as far as possible be individually designed and with that encourage employees to perform according to the Company's goals, strategy and vision. The remuneration should also encourage employees to act according to the Company's values: simplicity, care and openness, since this is considered to be the foundation for a successful and long term business. Further, the total remuneration should be designed in a way that makes the Company attract employees with the needed skills within the existing margins of costs.

The Policy is drafted in accordance with requirements of the regulations of the Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission and other competent authorities of European Union.

This Policy is applicable to all employees of the Company.

The Board of Directors may deviate from the Policy in individual cases if justified by extraordinary circumstances. Such circumstances may include the outstanding performance of an employee in contribution to the Company's overall results for a certain period.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Policy is to promote sound and dynamic performance culture, efficient risk management, counteract excessive risk-taking and encourage appropriate behaviour and balanced risk taking among employees for the benefit of clients.

The Policy reflects the Company's business strategy, objectives for good corporate governance as well as sustained and long-term value creation and avoidance conflicts of interest. In addition, it ensures that:

- The Company is able to attract, develop and retain high-performing and motivated employees in a competitive market,
- Employees are offered a competitive remuneration package,
- Employees feel encouraged to create sustainable results.

The Policy focuses on ensuring sound and effective risk management and counteracting excessive risk-taking through:

- A stringent governance structure for setting goals and communicating these goals to employees,
- Making fixed salaries the main remuneration component.

The total remuneration reflects the complexity, responsibility and leadership skills required in each position as well as the performance of the individual employee.

The basic principles of this Policy are designed to implement the following:

- It is aligned with effective conflicts of interest management duties, which include the avoidance of conflicts of interests created by the remuneration policies and practices and conduct of business risk management obligations, in order to ensure that Clients' interests are not impaired by any of the remuneration practices used by the Company in the short, medium and long term;
- None of these principles may create incentives that may lead any of the Company's employees to favour their own interest, or the Investment Firm's to the potential detriment of Clients;
- In establishing its remuneration practices, the Company has considered different relevant factors such as, but not limited to, the role performed by the employee, the type of products offered, and the methods of distribution in order to prevent potential conduct of business and conflict of interest risks from adversely affecting the interests of the Clients and to ensure that the Company adequately manages any related residual risk;
- In determining the performance of the employees, the Company shall also take into consideration the outcome of their activities in terms of compliance with the conduct of business rules and, in general, with the duty to care about the best interests of the Clients.
- These principles of remuneration policies and practices are approved by the Board of Directors of the Company, after the advice from the Compliance Department, and are implemented by appropriate functions to promote effective corporate governance. The Board of Directors is responsible for the implementation of remuneration policies and practices and for preventing and dealing with any relevant risks that remuneration policies and practices can create.
- The Company has implemented and maintains on an ongoing basis measures enabling it to effectively identify where the employee fails to act in the best interests of the Clients and to take remedial action. Such measures include the daily monitoring of activities of the Company's Departments by the Risk Manager and by the members of the Supervisory Board.

Remuneration Policy Requirements (extracts from the Law)

The Company when establishing and applying the total remuneration policies, inclusive of salaries and discretionary pension benefits, for categories of staff including senior management, risk takers, staff engaged in control functions and any employee receiving total remuneration that takes them into the same remuneration bracket as senior management and risk takers, must comply with the following principles in a manner and to the extent that is appropriate to their size, internal organisation and the nature, scope and complexity of their activities:

2. The RP is in line with the business strategy, objectives, values and long-term interests of the CIF, and incorporates measures to avoid conflicts of interest;
3. The CIF's board of directors adopts and periodically reviews the general principles of the RP and is responsible for overseeing its implementation;

 - b) Variable remuneration which should reflect a sustainable and risk adjusted performance as well as performance in excess of that required to fulfil the employee's job description as part of the terms of employment.

Variable Elements of Remuneration: For variable elements of remuneration, the following principles shall apply in addition to, and under the same conditions as, those set out in 1 through 7 above:

1. Where remuneration is performance related, the total amount of remuneration is based on a combination of the assessment of the performance of the individual and of the business unit concerned and of the overall results of the CIF and when assessing individual performance, financial and non-financial criteria are taken into account;
2. The assessment of the performance is set in a multi-year framework in order to ensure that the assessment process is based on long-term performance and that the actual payment of performance-based components of remuneration is spread over a period which takes account of the underlying business cycle of the CIF and its business risks;
3. The total variable remuneration does not limit the ability of the CIF to strengthen its capital base;
4. Guaranteed variable remuneration is not consistent with sound risk management or the pay-for-performance principle and shall not be a part of prospective remuneration plans;
5. Guaranteed variable remuneration is exceptional, occurs only when hiring new staff and where the CIF has a sound and strong capital base and is limited to the first year of employment;
6. Fixed and variable components of total remuneration are appropriately balanced and the fixed component represents a sufficiently high proportion of the total remuneration to allow the operation of a fully flexible policy on variable remuneration components, including the possibility to pay no variable remuneration component;
7. CIFs must set the appropriate ratios between the fixed and the variable component of the total remuneration, whereby the following principles shall apply:
 - a) The variable component shall not exceed 100% of the fixed component of the total remuneration for each individual.

The CIF must notify all shareholders of the CIF, providing a reasonable notice period in advance, that an approval under point 7(b) will be sought;

1. The CIF must, without delay, inform the Commission of the recommendation to its shareholders, including the proposed higher maximum ratio and the reasons therefore and must be able to demonstrate to the Commission that the proposed higher ratio does not conflict with the CIF's obligations under this Directive and under Regulation (EU) No 575/2013, having regard in particular to the CIF's own funds obligations;
2. The CIF must, without delay, inform the Commission of the decisions taken by its shareholders, including any approved higher maximum ratio pursuant to point 7(b), and the Commission must use the information received to benchmark the practices of CIFs in that regard. The Commission shall provide EBA with that information and EBA shall publish it on an aggregate home Member State basis in a common reporting format;
3. Staff who are directly concerned by the higher maximum levels of variable remuneration referred to in point 7(b) of this paragraph must not, where applicable, be allowed to exercise, directly or indirectly, any voting rights they may have as shareholders;
4. CIFs may apply a discount rate to a maximum of 25% of total variable remuneration provided it is paid in instruments that are deferred for a period of not less than five years.
5. Payments relating to the early termination of a contract reflect performance achieved over time and do not reward failure or misconduct;
6. Remuneration packages relating to compensation or buy out from contracts in previous employment must align with the long-term interests of the CIF including retention, deferral, performance and clawback arrangements;
7. The measurement of performance used to calculate variable remuneration components or pools of variable remuneration components includes an adjustment for all types of current and future risks and takes into account the cost of the capital and the liquidity required;
8. The allocation of the variable remuneration components within the CIF must also take into account all types of current and future risks;

REMUNERATION PRACTICES

Remuneration policies and practices implemented in NBI Investments Limited were intentionally simplified to the basic requirements of hiring and maintaining sufficiently professional personnel. For the time being it is based on the fixed salaries. The Board of Directors considers such approach as the most practical on this stage. It corresponds to the scale and complexity of NBI's operations.

After the achievement of the Company's growth later new more stimulating measures (like introduction of the variable component) might be introduced.

RISK MANAGEMENT FACTORS REGARDING REMUNERATION ISSUES

The risk management factors regarding remuneration issues considered to be most material which the Company's risk management and internal control system addresses are:

- Risk of falling out of the «golden middle» as far as the existing remuneration levels is concerned;
- Risk of introducing stimulating remuneration practices giving rise to the conflict of interest;

- Operational risk as regards to maintaining key personnel and access to HR pool in case of necessary replacement.

NBI policies and procedures are designed to identify and analyse those and other risks on an on-going basis through monitoring the related risks and improving stability of its operations.

The purpose of managing risks is the prompt identification of any potential problems before they occur.
